Weekly status:
During this past week, we met as a group and worked on understanding the details of programming the board. The board is similar to the board that we used in CpE 487 and we are able to use the same program to design the code. The details of the ports used are different between the two boards and require modifications to the programs. We found different types of USB hubs this week, and some may allow us to use a hub rather than having to get a separate USB daughterboard. More research will be done on the USB hub to finalize what we need to do. We will also continue to figure out the programming of the board and will work towards implementing code for DES encryption.
